Our services

Our services for workers:

- A dedicated website for students and graduates to register and apply for jobs
- An agency based at the University of London in Bloomsbury
- Target specific positions to match your skills and experience
- Personal interviews and consultations
- Dedicated consultant to help find students work
- A chance to gain valuable work experience
- And it's totally free

Temporary or casual work is a convenient and flexible way for students and graduates to earn income. There are thousands of agencies out there but very few that specialise in helping students and graduates. We provide students and graduates with a great choice of roles to suit individual requirements.

The University of London Temp Agency from the Careers Group recruits in a wide range of temporary, casual and seasonal positions from hospitality, cleaning and catering to research, IT and general office work.
